One Discovered In His Balloon, Other In Lake

Lieut. Roth Found in Basket of Airship and Body Found in Lake Is Believed Lieut. Null.

(By The Associated Press)
PORT STANLEY, July 8.—The body of Lieut. L. J. Roth, pilot of the ill-fated U. S. navy balloon, A 6698, was found in the basket of the airship 14 miles southwest of here this forenoon. The basket for which search had been made by airplanes, flying boards and other agencies for three days was picked up by a fishing boat commanded by Captain George Wilson, of Port Stanley. Evidence that Lieutenant Roth died of exposure was seen in the fact that his head and shoulders were hanging over the edge of the basket. Identification was established by a laundry mark "LJR" on his underwear. A ring on his third finger of his left hand contained a red stone. The United States navy Balloon A-6698, was one of the thirteen entrants in the national elimination race that started in Indiana last Wednesday. The other 12 entrants were accounted for many hours before Lieutenant Roth and Lieutenant Null were missed. The last sight of the A-6698 was on Lake Erie Wednesday.

Danville's Righteous National Action Appeal Finds Loud Echo In Indiana

The "Righteous National Action" movement which was initiated in Danville several months ago by Rev. Malcolm S. Taylor when a delegation of Danville citizens after failing to make an engagement with President Harding, saw Secretary of State C. E. Hughes, found its echo Saturday at Winona Lake, Indiana, where the Christian Citizenship Conference has been in session. The text of the address or communication which is based on Rev. Mr. Taylor's thought as expressed here several months ago and which received wide publicity throughout the nation, is as follows: "The world: Humanity is staggered by the possibilities of another world war. Homes in every land over which the shadow of sacrificial death still hovers are saddened by the prospect of still further heartbreak and suffering. The people in these lands have already given millions of their sons in the belief that their supreme sacrifice would make the world safe for democracy, create a high idealism which would make the world a fairer place in which to live and end war for all time. "None of these hopes has been realized. Men hate each other as intensely as ever. Chaos reigns in every human relationship. Economic and political conditions have sunk to low levels. Nations have been guilty of promoting selfish and ignoble loyalties. Efforts have been made to avert the disaster which is inevitable if present tendencies continue. Every such method for adjusting these difficulties has failed. The time has come to try Christianity. It has never failed in any field when given a fair chance, and civilization is entitled to every opportunity to free itself from its present predicament. There is an inescapable obligation on the part of every nation to make its contribution to consummate this desired end, even at great sacrifice to itself. "The nations of the world must depart from selfish individualism and inhuman isolation. They should unite

(By The Associated Press)
PARIS, July 9.—The Chamber of Deputies today unanimously approved the Washington treaties relating to the Pacific. Henry County Woman May Be a Candidate For State House

Considerable interest is centered in Henry county in the report that a well known woman of Martinsville may be a candidate for the State House of Delegates to succeed Hon. J. W. Ramsey who two months ago said that he would not be a candidate for another term. The woman whose name is being quietly discussed is Mrs. J. W. Booker, wife of a prominent Martinsville man engaged in the mercantile business. She is a member of the district committee and has been active in political and community affairs for some time. She is also a brilliant woman intellectually. While Mrs. Booker has not sought herself to advance her cause politically, many of her friends are engaged in doing this and it is said that her candidacy, while not formerly announced, is by no means beyond the range of possibility. If elected she will be the first woman legislator of the state. A state senatorial convention will be held in Danville on July 27th to name two Democrats for the state Senate. This is expected to be a perfunctory meeting as Senator W. A. Garrett of Henry and N. E. Clement of Pittsylvania have no opposition and there is no talk of any other candidates.

Planned And Built Her Own Home and Didn't Mash Thumb!

(Special to The Bee.)

OMAHA, Neb., July 8.—When Mrs. R. A. Bolen points to her home, she's more inclined to that reflection than most women in the United States.

For not only is it her home—the home she lives in—but it's her home, the product of her own hands, the home she built.

From foundation to rafter, the new five-room bungalow on La Fayette Avenue, here, was put up by Mrs. Bolen alone. Of course she had to leave the plumbing and electrical work to licensed workers, but she did all the carpentry.

Working alone on the building, in corduroy knickers, high boots and heavy work shirt, Mrs. Bolen completed her task in eight months. Her husband came around three or four times to look over the work and offer suggestions, and whenever she struck a snag, she says, she went to E. K. Stearns of the Updike Lumber company, who'd tell her what to do.

Own Plans, Too.

"I've enjoyed every minute of it," she concludes, now that she's through. "My husband and I had been planning for two years on building a house," she explains. "We wanted it to suit ourselves, and our pocket-books, so we made our own plans."

"Mr. Bolen couldn't leave his business to supervise the building, so I decided I'd quit work and do it. After I'd watched the cement workers put the basement in, I decided I could do the carpentry work myself. So I started."

As proof she could Mrs. Bolen points to her youthful days, when on a farm near Hiawatha, Kas. she'd rather handle farm machinery than wash dishes.

So building her own home wasn't so difficult after all.

"The hardest manual labor was putting up the framework," she says. "My 16-year-old brother helped me with the lifting."

Broken Finger Nails.

Otherwise she did it all, even to putting in the windows, fitting the radiators, changing the roof and boring the holes for the plumbing.

"I did sacrifice three or four finger nails," she confesses. "No, I didn't swear, but I'm not telling what I thought."

Financially, Mrs. Bolen figures she's ahead of the game.

"I'm sure I've saved as much as the salary I could have earned," she concludes, "and I feel certain that I've made a good investment by building in a growing part of town."

"And then there's the health side of it. I honestly never felt so well in my whole life."

The regular July term of Pittsylvania county circuit court will open for the term on the third Monday in this month and now pending for trial are 56 divorce cases. The criminal docket will be of about the usual length, but the July term is usually short owing to farmers being very busy and badly needed in their crops just at that time.

J. D. Drewery brought to jail here on Friday for the murder of his sweetheart, Miss Nellie Dalton, is resting quietly in his cell and nursing his wounded left arm which received the load of shot he intended sending into his own heart immediately after taking the life of Miss Dalton. The physician that attended him did not consider the wound at that time very serious and if no complications develop he should soon be very much improved. Just when he will be given a preliminary trial has not been fixed but will be at an early date.

The new "Midget" swimming class is proving quite popular. This class meets at 9:30 a. m. Tuesdays and Fridays and the membership is limited to boys from eight to eleven years of age, inclusive.

The rapid increase in the membership of the Junior swimming class has made necessary its division into two sections. One section will meet at 9:30 a. m. Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, the other at 3:00 p. m. Tuesdays and Thursdays and at 10:15 a. m. on Saturdays.

An overnight hike to the Community Camp is planned for the Junior boys next Tuesday. Mr. Hyler will accompany them.

Several senior members are now taking individual instruction in swimming. This is given absolutely free to Y. M. C. A. members at hours to suit their convenience. "Every member a swimmer and every swimmer a life-saver" is the summer slogan of the Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. is cooperating in every possible way with the joint Lions-Rotary-Kiwanis committee in charge of the Community Camp. The new special exercise room is now in daily use by many members who enjoy a light "workout" before taking their shower-bath and swim. It is a great convenience and a real time-saver to the man who does not have time to get into a gym class.

MERRICK URGES AN ACCEPTANCE OF THE TREATIES

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

PARIS, July 7.—Ambassador Myron T. Herrick, interviewed with the French government yesterday to urge ratification of the Washington treaties. In the course of a long call at Quai d'Orsay this morning to hold Premier Poincare that the American government earnestly hoped that these treaties, particularly the naval limitation treaty, would be ratified by the French Parliament before it adjourned July 13, otherwise it would be deeply disappointed.

The same message had been conveyed to Perti Dila Rocco, political director of the foreign office, several days ago by Sheldon White House, counselor of the American embassy. "There are urgent diplomatic reasons why these treaties must be ratified," Premier Poincare told the Chamber late Wednesday night as a result of Mr. Whitehouse's call.

The chamber thereupon voted to discuss the Washington treaties at a special meeting Saturday afternoon. The chamber will surely ratify the naval treaty at least, though it will be a political victory for M. Brand, who is now campaigning for the Premier-ship.

Mr. Herrick intervened particularly to urge that the naval treaty be immediately submitted to the Senate after the Chamber has acted, because the government did not intend to place it before the Senate until parliament meets again in October.

The prospects of complete ratification are much brighter, but not as

Progress Slow In Getting Funds

Mrs. B. E. Temple reported yesterday that contributions towards a memorial to the women of the Confederacy in which she is deeply interested continue to be received though slowly at the present time, owing probably to the absence from the city of a good many people.

Mrs. Temple is continuing her work of personal solicitation and has thus far in hand $1,100. She is desirous of swelling the total to $2,500 so that the movement started by her late husband many years ago may be materialized.

Mrs. Temple in reporting her further progress yesterday, said that she hoped that stimulus to the memorial idea would be given by the publicity which has been won by a proposal to erect a monument to the ante-bellum "black Mammy" somewhere in the South. The following persons have recently contributed to the movement:

NEGOTIATIONS FOR NEW WAGE CONTRACT HALTED

(By The Associated Press.)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 7.—Negotiations for a new wage contract between the anthracite miners and operators were unexpectedly interrupted today through the inability of the employers to complete the draft of their reply to the workers in time for today's scheduled session of the miners and operators. The reason given for the delay was that the stenographers were unable to complete the transcription of the speeches made by the miners' representatives at the opening meeting on Friday.

TOBACCO LEADS IN ACRE VALUE

According to figures obtained from Henry M. Taylor, federal agricultural statistician for this state, tobacco, regarded as a more or less luxury farm product, had a per acre value in Virginia of $180, while wheat, the staple food product of the world, had a value of only $15.75 per acre. Tobacco led all crops in per acre value. Wheat was the lowest.

Virginia last year produced farm products valued at $11,600,000. Corn was the most valuable crop in totals for the year. Based upon December prices, it was worth $42,116,000. It ranked seventh, however, in per acre value, being worth only $22.12. Tobacco came next to corn in total, it being worth $37,020,000 last year. Hay came next in total value, it being worth 19,520,000. Wheat came fourth, it being worth $12,656,000, and apples sixth, with a total value of $7,500,000.

Mr. Taylor is of the opinion that the value of farm products in the state this year will exceed the 1922 total of $17,711,000,000.

The Store-Wide EXPANSION SALES

Present a Wonderful Buying Opportunity

In the first announcement of this series of great sales we gave as the reason for the sales that we had determined to celebrate the expansion of departments into the mammoth new addition to the store with a demonstration of value giving such as was never before attempted in the store's history.

This bare announcement was enough to crowd the store the first day of the sales with a great army of eager shoppers. Each succeeding day has served to swell the ranks of our visitors and we are very glad indeed to note that many have come from out of town points—some from a very great distance.

For us this sales period (July and August) is to be an occasion of publicity for the great new store. Of special value giving—the most remarkable we have ever attempted—in order to cement old friendships and to make a host of new friends against the time—now fast approaching—when the completion of the new store addition will introduce a great emporium unsurpassed by any store in the South.

There remarkable values presented may be attributed largely to two factors:

First—many of the manufacturers, converters, importers and agents from whom we buy have been closely identified with the store's progress and growth over a long period of years and have entered into the spirit of our activities with genuine enthusiasm and co-operation that ensures a continuance of remarkable values throughout the term of the sales.

Second—The question of Miller & Rhoads profits "per item" have largely been lost sight of in marking prices on special merchandise secured for the sales and on goods from regular stock that is being included.

Below are listed three specimen values—on sale this week. You can save money by calling and making a selection from these items. Remember every one of the store's forty departments is teeming with values equally attractive. It is a time for anticipating one's needs—for "buying ahead."

You really must visit the store in person to realize what this great merchandising movement means. In no other way is it possible to grasp the scope of the sale or the extent of the values offered. You are cordially invited to make us a visit of inspection.

A Few Specimen Values Offered This Week:

Silk Dresses $18.95	Silk Hose $1.59

British Accept a Cut In Wages

In Return for Eight-Hour Day, But Remuneration Compares Well With U. S. Pay.

BY MILTON BRONNER

(Special to The Bee.)
LONDON, July 9.—The British steel industry has been on an eight-hour basis since 1919.

Prior to that many individual plants had adopted it, but in the main the 12-hour day was the rule.

But after the war had gone on for over two years the Steel Ingot Makers Association and the North of England Iron and Steel Manufacturers Association, representing the owners, and the Iron and Steel Trades Confederation, representing the men, agreed that the eight-hour day should be made the standard.

As a result of this, the shift men in the steel melting shops now average 45 1-3 hours instead of 68; the shift men in the rolling mills average 42 2-3 instead of 68; and the day men 47 instead of 52.

Some Reduced.
Characteristically enough, the men and the employers, through their organizations, got together and worked out a regular scale of new wages to cover the new conditions.

Under this a man who got 50 shillings ($12.50) or under continued to draw the same wages for eight hours as he did for 12 hours.

But all who got 51 shillings or over accepted a reduction. The effect of this was that the firms accepted the loss entailed by a reduction from 12 to eight hours of labor as regarded all the men who got the low wages. And the men who got the higher wages accepted the loss entailed in the eight-hour day.

In other words, they paid for their eight-hour day and thought it was worth while. Thus a man who used to get 60 shillings now got 57 shillings and two pence. And men who made as high as 120 shillings—$30—now got $20. The cuts thus agreed upon were accepted throughout the trade without the slightest sign of trouble.

Might Work Sunday.
It was agreed that in the melting shops the melting should start at 6 a. m. on Sunday, provided that if at any works there was a surplus of material available for the mills between 6 a. m. Monday and 1 p. m. Saturday, the men could be called upon to work on Sunday night, commencing at midnight, with the object of obtaining the maximum output.

The recognized time of finishing in melting shops and mills was 1 p. m. Saturday.

Working engaged after that hour were to be paid time and a half or tonnage and a half for the extra time worked. As regarded melting furnaces, it was agreed every endeavor would be made to tap not later than 1 o'clock on Saturday, but if from any uncontrollable circumstance, a furnace did not tap until after 1:30 o'clock, overtime should be paid at the rate of tonnage and a half.

Wages High.
The shifts of the men were to be from 6 a. m. to 2 p. m., from 2 p. m. till 10 p. m. and from 10 to 6. It is usually considered that America pays the best wages in the world, but the following figures show that in Great Britain where the cost of living for the workmen has never been as high as in the United States, the men get very good remuneration:

First hand melters, 18 pounds ($80).
Second hand melters, 12 pounds ($60).
Third hand melters, 8.90 pounds ($42).

Plate mill rollers, 18 pounds ($80).
Average of other men engaged in steel process, 4.10.0 ($22).
Rough labor, 3 pounds ($15).

In the critical days of the war it was agreed by the men that if the employers, anxious to get steel production up to its maximum, wanted to work the mills over the week-end no objection would be made.

However, their employers soon stopped this as they found it was not economical. Not only did the men need rest but the plants needed the weekly overhauling to put them in perfect order.

R. K. Gosney Dies At South Boston

(Special to The Bee.)

SOUTH BOSTON, July 9.—R. K. Gosney, a well known South Boston contractor died here unexpectedly yesterday afternoon in Halycon hospital where he was taken in an unconscious condition from his home. He suffered a nervous breakdown and his death is attributed to this.

Tate Willing To Put It In Black And White

"Hardly a man comes to the shop I don't tell about Tanlac," said J. S. Tate, 503 E. Main Street, Charlottesville, Va., Battery Repairer for Irwin-Way Hill Co.

"All my life I suffered from constipation, and for three years past my stomach was in such terrible shape I could eat barely enough to keep body and soul together. My nerves were too shattered to rest, neuritis almost blinded me at times, and many days I couldn't even get down to the shop. I was losing ground so fast it was a question with me how much longer I could last."

"I was tempted to quit taking Tanlac after my second bottle, but fortunate for me I stuck to the treatment, and it increased my weight and made me a well man. I took my last dose of Tanlac last spring, but haven't felt a touch of constipation or any other ailment since. Just put me down in black and white as being strong for Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.—adv.

Still a Girl

In bloom and beauty—due to clay

By Edna Wallace Hopper

After 22 years as a stage star, I look like a girl of 18. My complexion is as soft and rosy as a debutante's. My skin is as smooth and youthful as 40 years ago.

All women marvel at my looks when they see me play young girls' parts. But my same methods brought like results to scores of my beautiful friends. So I am convinced that most women can, in these ways, multiply their beauty and preserve their bloom. Youth—my famous liquid clay—which I use—my Youth Clay—is white and clean and dainty.

French experts introduced clay to me some 20 years ago. But clay since then have been very much improved. The crude and muddy clays so many use today are out-of-date.

ABLE scientists have been studying clays for 20 years and over. They have found that a certain mineral clay brings maximum results. They have learned how to refine it by removing the useless mud. The clay I use—my Youth Clay—is white and clean and dainty.

There have found some added factors which bring multiplied results. So the oldest users of crude, old-time clays will be amazed at this new clay.

What Youth Clay Does
Youth Clay purges the skin of all that clogs it. Thus it removes the causes of sallowness, blackheads and blemishes.

It draws the blood to the skin to nourish and renew it. The result is that rosy afterglow, that seeming new complexion. Many women, in 30 minutes, seem to drop ten years.

It firms the skin, smoothes out lines and wrinkles, reduces enlarged pores. My own face shows clearly what constant use will do. I owe my fame and fortune largely to this clay. Abandon those crude clays which I quit many years ago. See what Youth Clay can do. It will bring you, as to me, multiplied effects.

All druggists and toilet goods dealers now supply Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Clay. Price 50c and $1 per tube. Also my Youth Cream, based on lemon and strawberry. This should follow the clay. Also my Facial Youth—my famous liquid cleanser. Also my Hair Youth. My Beauty Book comes with each.

See what Youth Clay does. You owe that to yourself. If you are not delighted with the first tube, your dealer will return its price. I want no woman to ever lose by taking my advice.

John Dix's Half Gallon Nets Him Term of 6 Months

John Dix who, unlike Napoleon, preferred jail to exile, admitted to Judge Withers this morning that he was a pretty sharp bootlegger. He qualified the statement, however, by saying that former Police Officer O. T. Cook was a sharper policeman than he was bootlegger and that this accounted for his appearance before the court.

Dix was caught some time ago by Cook who saw him carrying a package under his arm, this, it developed being half a gallon of moonshine. Dix pleaded guilty Friday, but sentence was deferred until this morning until the accused's counsel, Harry Wooding Jr., returned from the State Bar Association meeting. This morning the accused man who was ready for the judicial medicine said that he was compelled to use a small quantity of liquor as he suffered from tuberculosis. Dix was sentenced by the court to serve six months in jail and to pay a fine of $50.

Dix's brief submission to exile about 15 months was unique. He had been caught in a police round up and was given the option of staying away from Danville for 30 years or staying in Danville jail a year. At first he chose the first alternative. Within six months he had had enough, surrendered and served out his full term.

Drewry's Injury Somewhat Better

The case of the State against J. D. Drewry, charged with killing Nellie Dalton at his home at Motley's Station on Friday, will not be abandoned pending an investigation into the man's mental status, it was learned this morning.

Commonwealth's Attorney George T. Rison will ask for a preliminary hearing either Wednesday or Thursday of this week and, if the wounded man's condition is such that he cannot be tried then, the matter will be placed before the next Pittsylvania grand jury. Should at that time any request be made for mental examination by his counsel, it would be for Judge Clement to decide the matter and the indictment would probably be continued until a definite outcome of the examination.

Drewry spent a quiet day in his jail cell at Chatham. So far no untoward symptom has shown itself. Drewry's arm was dressed this morning by a Chatham physician and the injury was reported as being somewhat better. Jailor Barbour reported that Drewry was disinclined to discuss the tragic event of Friday and that he will say nothing about it. The jailor reported, however, that the man talked rationally enough on other subjects but that at times he had "a wild look in his eyes."

During the week Williams got one homer, his total to date being 22. Attorney and Police Officer Exchange Blows

Police Detective J. N. Campbell and Hugh T. Williams, an attorney, engaged in a fist fight in the morning office this morning after court adjourned, the affair resulting from heated words between the two, following trial of a case a few minutes before in the police court. The combatants were separated just a few moments after the scuffle was heard from the courtroom. However, each had landed a blow or two. Warrants were filed out and the case will be tried in the police court tomorrow morning.

The two were interested in the cases of Will Moore, Mose Shackelford and Hugh Jones, charged with store-breaking and violating the Mapp act. Campbell was one of the officers who made the arrests and Williams was acting as counsel for the accused. Naturally the attorney was putting forth every effort for his client, expressing a desire to dispose of the housebreaking case this morning while Campbell sought to have it continued on the grounds that he could secure more evidence.

Campbell charged Williams with trying "to run something over him," and this caused a retort from the attorney that "when I can't do all I can for my client I'll quit practicing law." One word followed another and Campbell invited Williams out of the courtroom. Williams followed him into the mayor's office and after another passage of heated words, a lively scuffle ensued which brought officers to the rescue.

Sergeant J. L. Edwards, Police Secretary James Elliott and others separated the combatants, only after some little difficulty. At the time Campbell had Williams beneath him in a chair, with one arm around his neck and was administering blows to the head with the other. Williams was calling out "dirty coward." When pulled apart both were somewhat exhausted, Williams having the appearance of being dazed. Campbell sustained a blow or scratch which drew blood while Williams bore a bruise on the cheek.

Campbell claims that Williams struck him the first blow. Sergeant Edwards, who was the first to arrive on the scene, corroborated this statement. He says the men were exchanging words in an angry manner and the attorney, after the first blow, what few blows were passed came so fast that Sergeant Edwards had not reached them before Campbell had got Williams into the chair. At this point others arrived, and with Sergeant Edwards, pulled the men apart.

Williams was led from the room by an officer and Campbell taken in another direction to prevent further trouble. It was a clean fist fight, neither attempting to use anything other than their bare hands. The whole affair will be aired tomorrow morning.

Henry Court Is Still In Session

(Special to The Bee.)

MARTINSVILLE, July 9.—The sessions of the Henry county Circuit court were resumed this morning, taking up and disposing of the case of Arthur Joss, who pleaded guilty to the robbery of the person, J. W. A. Morris. Joss was sentenced to eight years in the penitentiary.

Following the Joss case the court took up the case of John Stone, charged with the murder of George Frame, Bassett policeman. The case is being heard without a jury upon the request of the defense counsel, Messrs. Hooker and Sanford.

The trial of Buster Brown has been continued on account of his still being at large. It being impossible to try a prisoner charged with a felony in his absence.

Judge Clement has acted with despatch in dealing with informations against automobiles seized because they were found to contain ardent spirits. Twenty such cars have been ordered sold also a horse and buggy. There are about twenty other cars remaining to be disposed of but the process against them has not yet matured for definite action.

Men charged with liquor running or bootlegging have received short shrift where the evidence was positive and all of them have been given jail terms. If several instances the court has allowed such persons to give bond to appear in court at a later date in order to begin their terms. This procedure is similar to that seen some years ago in the federal courts when convicted moonshiners were allowed to get in their crops and to set their houses in order before beginning their jail terms.

Fletcher Akers who recently figured in a gun explosion and was sentenced to serve thirty days was convicted by a jury and given a double dose. He has appealed the case to the court of appeals. With Fletcher is involved the automobile which figured last night in a shooting episode when officers fired at a party of Martinsville men striking the car in the belief that it was carrying liquor.

LAST OF QUEEN'S ESTATE WILL GO TO THE MUSEUM

HONOLULU, July 7.—The Bishop museum here will be the sole beneficiary of the remaining estate of the late Queen Liliuokalani, consisting now in the main of priceless relics, crown jewels, crests, silverware, decorations and insignia of royalty according to the trustees.

Queen Liliuokalani, last of the reigning monarchs of Hawaii, died in 1917. Four suits have been filed to break her will, the last having been withdrawn within the past month. Most of the persons to whom she made bequests, including John A. King, Prince Jonah Kūhiō Kalanianaʻōle, have died, and the articles bequeathed to them will be turned over to the Bishop museum. It will be six months before the estate can be distributed, according to the executor, Colonel C. P. Iaukea, who was chamberlain to the queen.

The estate was valued at approximately $50,000 at her death, but many of her possessions, including Washington Place, her residence, have been sold and the proceeds placed in the Liliuokalani Trust. The income from this trust goes toward the support of schools and hospitals. Washington Place is now the official residence of the governor of the territory.

WOMEN MEET TO MAKE FIRM STAND FOR ALL RIGHTS

BY MARIAN HALE
(Special to The Bee.)

NEW YORK, July 7.—How much longer will women wait for liberty?

The National Women's Party asks this question and expects to answer it at the Seneca Falls conference, beginning July 19, celebrating the seventy-fifth anniversary of the first woman's rights convention in America.

At this first convention, Alice Paul, vice president of the party, explaining "Lucy Mott and Susan B. Anthony and other feminists of the day made it plain they were not asking privileges but demanding rights. They demanded equality in marriage, industry, education, political office, accepted moral standard; in the church, in the professions, the guardianship of children and in contract and property rights."

"Today, after three-quarters of a century, the realization of these ideals is not much nearer than the old solution about the woman's soul. Equality has not been obtained in America in any of the respects enumerated."

"It is astonishing to learn that in some states a mother has practically no power over her own children—the father is the sole guardian. Elsewhere the husband is the absolute owner of his wife's services."

"In industry no pretense is made of paying women the same wages as men or giving them the same promotional men receive."

The woman's party believes that women should take a stand for absolute equality, and that an amendment to the constitution should be made providing that men and women shall have equal rights throughout the United States and in every place subject to its jurisdiction.

One meeting of the conference will be devoted to an anniversary program, prepared by Hazel Mackaye of Massachusetts brother of Percy Mackaye, the playwright. Mrs. H. O. Havemeyer of New York will preside at the memorial meeting and Josephine

ALICE PAUL

Cassidy of Chicago, formerly organizer in the American Federation of Labor and now chairman of the industrial council of the Woman's Party, will be one of the principal speakers. Mrs. O. H. Belmont, president, will be present and will preside.

On the last day of the conference will occur the pilgrimage to the grave of Susan B. Anthony.

The Woman's Party believes that the fame of our great women has been too much neglected. Miss Paul concluded, "We hope this meeting at Seneca Falls will start a revival of interest in feminist history and will permanently establish the place of Lucetta Mott and Susan B. Anthony in the history of the development of the United States."

12-HR DAY AND 7-DAY WEEK FOR WORKERS MENACE

(By The Associated Press.)

DES MOINES, July 7.—The 12-hour day and the seven day a week for industrial workers is a menace to the American home, the Christian church and free government, according to a declaration contained in a resolution adopted today by the 29th International Christian Endeavor Convention in session here. The resolution was introduced by the executive committee of the United Society of Christian Endeavor and will be sent to the constituent societies.

The text of the statement follows: "Christ and open warfare in industry, distinct challenge to Christianity. Jesus Christ is for the individual and for the institutions of society, the only sufficient Saviour. We believe that the application of his spirit and principles to the problems and controversies of commerce and trade, will promote good-will and establish peace."

"We recommend those who are acting as pathfinders of a new and Christian social order. Particularly do we commend such organizations as the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, and the International Harvester Company, for their demonstration of the practicability of the eight hour day, the shop committee, and the wisdom of the participation of workers in direction and control."

"The twelve-hour day, the seven day week, the espionage system and autocratic control are relics of an industrial absolutism where they still continue to be a menace to the American home, the Christian Church, and free government; they remain as feudal evils that Christian civilization ought long since to have outlawed. Because of them the church is often unjustly measured by the working world. For vast numbers they stand as barriers in the road to Americanization. They promote unrest and make for bitterness and therefore are not good for a nation. We pledge our best efforts under the wise leadership of our churches to bring them to an end."

—Miss Helen Ferrell is a visitor at Driftwood Cottage, Virginia Beach, attending the Baptist encampment.

DRUG SMUGGLING IN PRISONS HAS BEEN REDUCED

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Smuggling of drugs to prisoners in federal penitentiaries has been greatly reduced as a result of investigations by agents of the Department of Justice, H. H. Votaw, superintendent of prisons, said today.

At strict guard is being maintained in all federal penal institutions, especially in the Atlanta penitentiary, where the traffic was found to be in a flourishing stage when the investigation began. All guards and prison officials have been given instructions to maintain the most vigorous vigilance, and every incoming prisoner is subjected to a searching examination.

"When the fact is realized that at Atlanta there are more than 2,600 prisoners and but 119 guards, it is marvelous that the government has been able to cope with the situation as well as it has," said Mr. Votaw.

MRS. RICKNER IS GIVEN HEARING

(By The Associated Press.)

ANNISTON, Ala., July 7.—Mrs. Ellen Sue Rickner was today released under bond of $3,000 at a preliminary hearing on a charge of slaying her husband, Lieutenant James C. Rickner, eighth infantry at Camp McClellan, June 29. Granting of bail by Judge Holman took place while the defendant was in a state of semi-consciousness after she had collapsed.

Unusual interest was attached to the case due to the popularity of the slain officer and the youth and beauty of his wife.

The defense presented no witnesses and the state's testimony was mostly concerned with the circumstances of the shooting.

Captain Charles F. Craiz testified that in his dying breath Rickner cursed his wife and blamed her for his death.

JUSTICE PREVAILS IN FLORIDA.

Justice has prevailed in Florida and Thomas Walter Higginbotham, formerly a convict camp whipping boss has been sentenced to serve 20 years in the penitentiary for second degree murder. He was accused of causing the death of Martin Tabert, a youth from North Dakota who, unable to liquidate a small fine for having stolen a ride on a train in Florida was sent into the swamps to work out his fine. A newspaper expose of Tabert's death was made at the time when the state of North Dakota served on the state of Florida a demand for an explanation of the youth's death. This unusual action together with the pitiless publicity which resulted therefrom forced a legislative enquiry into cruelties practiced in convict camps and the country was astounded at the barbarous treatment to which wards of the state were subjected to by men who were virtually dictators in those unhappy settlements where prisoners of the state were farmed out.

Higginbotham's conviction reflects an earnest determination on the part of the state to endeavor to right a great wrong to wipe out a besmirching stain. Many Floridians were ignorant of the state of affairs which was revealed by the enquiry and expressed horror when the facts became known. It is also true, however, that pressure was exerted to spare Higginbotham and that he was tried in Putnam county where the former whipping boss was not without his friends. Against the evidence of men who had suffered fire penalties and whose testimony was sharpened by past recollections, was a clever and adroit defense. There was medical testimony that Tabert had died from fever, evidence of "eyewitnesses" who said that Higginbotham had not lashed the North Dakotan unmercifully, also the general theory that convict whippings were necessary to ensure the carrying out of the law. A conviction secured under such circumstances shows a real determination to make an example of those responsible for reckless whippings and even though whippings have been abolished by legislative enactment will give guards and prison authorities something to think about.

The Tabert case will long stand out as a striking example of a defenseless man subjected to cruelties at the hands of a man who during his tenure of position in the Putnam Lumber Company's camp was the representative of the state. The Dakotan was guilty of no heinous crime. He was convicted of a misdemeanor and because he did not have the necessary money he was put off to a convict camp. He had written to his parents for money to pay his way to freedom. The money was sent to him but it was kept from him, the money being in the hands of a man who was a member of the state's police force.

ENTERPRISE AND THE FIGHT PICTURES.

A striking example of newspaper enterprise is provided in the bringing to the metropolitan areas in the east the photographic plates and the moving pictures of the fight which last Wednesday at 10:15 p. m. in the one concern which carried a printed copy in advance the printing of the precious plates to enable the editors of a more and more extensive newspaper enterprise to be in perfecting the photographic arrangements the fact that it was possible to show in New York on Saturday night a fighting scene taken Wednesday in Shelby though not of the highest proper because of existing laws was due solely to the fact that a small squadron of airplanes more than a dozen, were loitering, came roaring out of the west to points where train connections could be made. Other airplanes took up the small parcels and sped further east making other fast train connections. It was possible to bring the pictures a distance of 2,040 miles in 40 hours, a remarkable feat in itself.

The Bee today is publishing ring-side photographs of the fight taken by the members of the photographic staff of the Newspaper Enterprises Association the plates of which were brought through the means of the ingenious undertaking to central points where they could be transformed into newspaper matrices.

The story of the undertaking is contained in a service message received today by all the clients of the organization part of which follows: "More than a dozen planes, the strongest obtainable, left Shelby at 6 p. m. on the day of the fight. Four of these were commissioned by NEA Service. Four more NEA planes waited as relays in other states.

"And every plane, according to the best information, went down before the storms that hit the northwestern states with a mailed fist.

"But the planes would not accept defeat. Forced to descend, they would at first lull spread their wings and speed on like frightened birds, taking refuge from the howling winds only when the elements became over-ly angry at the presumption of the sturdy fliers.

"To them, and to the crew of NEA Service men strung across the country, goes credit for this unusual feat. "The NEA plane that rose from Shelby and headed west, was forced to land for a short time before reaching Spokane. Photos of the fight were the first published in that city. The plane speeding south from the boom town toward Salt Lake City had to bow to the rain and wind before reaching its destination safely—carrying the first fight pictures into that far-western city. Two planes turned their noses toward Chicago and the east.

"The first went down after two hours. The second, after a series of brave hops, reached Williston, N. D.—pathfinders in this strange air race. Then to Fargo, N. D., and Minneapolis. When Eastern Plane No. 2 was within 104 miles of Chicago—at Janesville, Wis.—another storm was encountered, and it went down again. It was down about four hours, and when, at 5:55 a. m. on Friday, it circled down on Ashburn Field, Chicago, its rivals were lost sight of completely. But 20 minutes were needed to change planes there, and the mad race to the east was on. Throughout it all, the spirit of "carrying through" was uppermost in the minds of those charged with the responsibility of getting those fight pictures first to each one of the hundreds of newspapers depending upon NEA Service."

HUGE SALARIES TO STARS WILL KILL IDEALISM

DES MOINES, July 7.—America will suffer a loss of idealism in the future because of the prominence given to huge salaries and fees paid to movie stars, prize fighters, and baseball players, according to Clarence Hamilton, of Boston, in addressing today's session of the International Christian Endeavor Convention here. "Modern heroes as pictured in the newspapers and magazines are not very desirable characters for our boys and girls to emulate," said Mr. Hamilton. "Practically all of them are placed upon a money-making basis. Character and achievement count for little with them. The prizefighter who can deliver a punch to knock his opponent senseless is given many big bunces here and there. He is celebrated before and after the festive time punch is delivered and for that sides notoriety which happens in our day for fame. Likewise the movie stars who can go through some capers and simulate virtues which they do not possess, are heralded as great men and women because they attract buyers of tickets to box-offices. The same is true of baseball players.

"Boys and girls and young men and women who emulate these weaklings, become and pictured as heroes and heroines, are building on sand. Big money and fame are the only things contributing to our physical and mental and spiritual well-being. They should be lauded and emulated. The value of their work can not be appraised with the dollar sign. The idealism of America will suffer if the false standards of value are accepted by a large proportion of our American youth.

RETURN.

The spent day dwindles west along the strand. Wide-spread sea-winds veer and circle home. Trailing slow pinions luminous where foam breaks their touch. Now the last gust of sand. Gone stinging like, and where myrtles ward-shorn, and laddled in the lead of dunes. The sleepy wings bruise leaves till evening shadows. With drowsy perfume, and sleep folds the land.

So I would come again where loved things are. An aron hence, after my voyaging. When I have tired of the last wild day. And winds get homeward, I would turn and fling. The beach beside these dunes, and know again. The child's deep silence, and the myrtle's plan. —D. E. B. Howard, Lyric for June.

Magazine prizes for plans to be taken to the beach. Our plan would be to take the prizes. With so many presidential candidates, it looks like a great year for the beach. The county seems about equally divided between those who blame Wall Street and those who blame

DRAKES BRANCH, July 8.—(Grapevine Wireless).—In studying the complex vagaries of life one is often amazed at the quick stupidity of the average man in an awkward situation. Here we have two examples told in brief story, illustrating the psychological effort of the answer to the question: "What do you mean?"

Ed Norwood, publicity director for the Ringling-Barnum & Bailey circus, tells this story which he declares is true: "An old man approached the ticket wagon on the circus grounds and asked for three seats for the afternoon performance. 'Sorry, but we're sold out,' the ticket seller told him. 'You mean to say that you haven't even three seats you can sell me?' 'That's about the situation.' 'Well, I called the old man with acerbity. 'I call that durned poor management!'

Then there's the old story about the woman who wanted a man's fur-hat, such as she had seen in the window, but couldn't recall his size. 'Funny I don't remember it,' she added, laughing. 'I've been buying his hats for years.' The proprietor promptly got out a hat, size 6 3/4 and handed it to her. 'How do you know this will fit him?' she asked. 'Because,' he told her, 'we find that 6 3/4 always fits a man who habitually lets his wife buy his hats for him.'

State-Line has the biggest picnic, according to W. Beauregard, who keeps up with all the gatherings and associations in three counties.

There is one thing for which I have to thank Jack's mother. I do get so much comfort out of you, dear little Marquise, who only beside myself may hold the key to this secret drawer of wonder how Mrs. Prescott found it in her heart to part with this beautiful desk.

Now for a great secret. I have found out that Ruth Ellington's heart has not grown cold. It has not grown frozen into a kind of prickly cocoon, something that will protect its warmth and youth from the knowledge of the world.

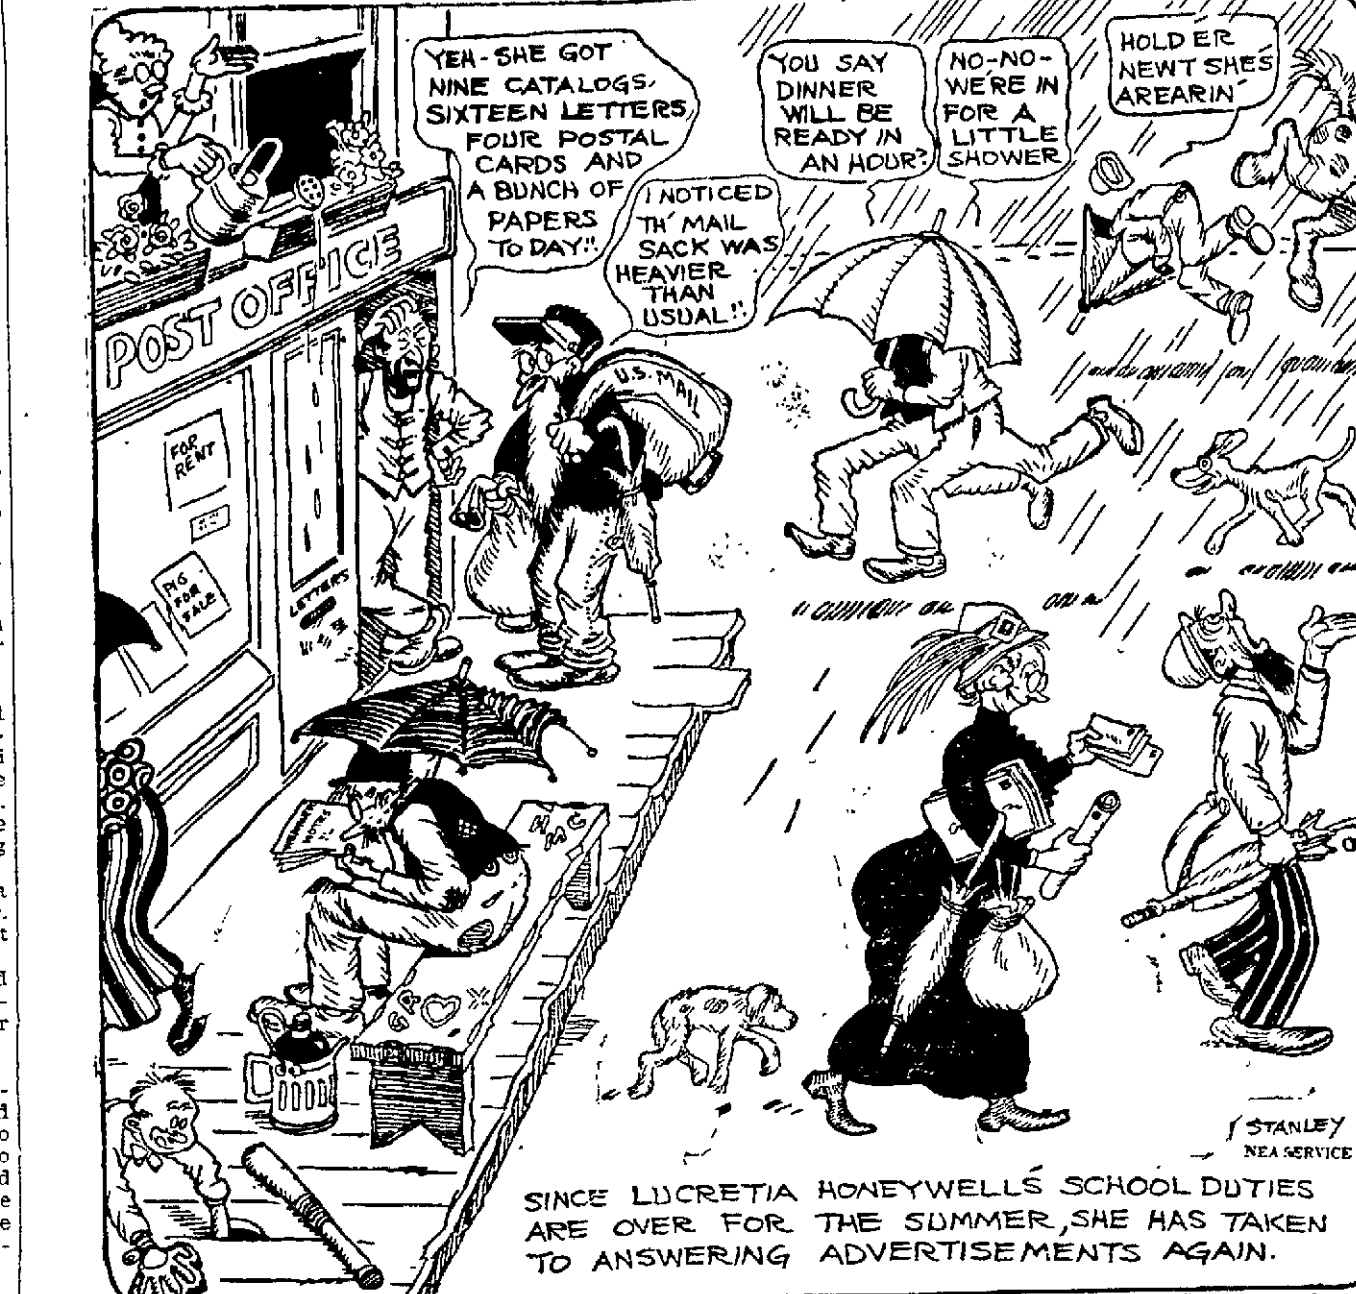

After we had tried on nearly every hat in town and had a most beautiful time, I invited Ruth—I have been told it is the best way for a man to go with me to the smartest place in town.

Before we went in, we both doled ourselves up a little in the ladies' dressing room and I knew the same thought came to each of us as it entered the room, the best looking women in the room.

"Society women," Leslie said. Ruth, "always look so bored." I did not have the heart to tell her that the night before I thought she looked bored to death, for today she was bright and happy and a ray of little butterfly flitting about the flowers. I could not help wondering just what made her appear so differently when her husband was with her. "Perhaps," she continued, "it is because most women who are rich enough to lunch and tea at a place like this are society women, that men always seem to think we are bored with each other. Always one feels rather sorry when one sees a group of women dining without a man and one has so such ideas about a group of men. And yet I feel today that women can enjoy each other and do enjoy each other more than men enjoy each other."

Before I thought, dear little Mar-

SEVENTH BIG ROUND FOR JACK

GIBBONS' LAST STAND

GIBBONS BEST IN EARLY ROUNDS

You Would Laugh Too If It Was Your Horse That Won!

WEATHERVANE AND JOCKEY

BY MILTON BRONNER

(Special to The Bee.)

LONDON, July 8.—The king is laughing. And the camera catches him in his most unusual expression. For most time he is either looking serious or merely smiling. What is he laughing at?

Obviously it's the horse on the other side of the column.

But why beam at a horse? Because it's the king's horse and the nag has just come home a winner in the great Royal Hunt Cup race at Ascot.

Fact is, the king has gotten more comfort out of Ascot races this year than at any time since he has owned a stable. Two times in one week horses carrying his colors came in first—Weatherlane as already mentioned and Knight of the Garter in the Coventry Stakes.

At that, the king hasn't the luck his royal papa had. Edward VII set quite a record as kings go. He won the Derby three times. When he was still Prince of Wales his Persimmon won it in 1896 and Diamond Jubilee in 1900. After he ascended the throne, his horse Minoru won the Derby in 1908.

It was the sixth straight victory the Reds have scored against the Giants and Luque, the Cuban star who twirled a masterful game, accounted for his third triumph of the season over the champions. Caveney and Burns put Cincinnati in the lead with circuit clouts in the second inning and Fonseca's home run drive clinched the game in the eighth.

It was the fifth successive victory Cincinnati has won from the world's champions. The game was a pretty pitching duel between Rixey and McQuillan. The local pitcher weakened in the 9th when Cincinnati filled the bases with none out and scored the winning runs on singles by Fonseca and Hargrave.

Player drives from the tee and believes that his ball has gone out of bounds. In order to save time he so considers it and drives another ball from the tee which pursued much the same course, with a possibility that it also went out of bounds. It was then discovered that neither ball was out of bounds and that the first ball enjoyed a much better lie than the second. What about it?

The player shall continue the first ball in play without suffering any penalty for having driven the second ball from the tee.

A and B are in matched play. Playing from the ninth tee, B tees up his ball and in making his downward swing the ball falls from the tee just before the club reaches it. B completes the swing, but failed to hit the ball. B claims that because of his failure to strike the ball he has the right to retee it without penalty.

B having played a stroke, has no right to retee the ball as it is in play. Player has a right to retee the ball only when it falls or is knocked from the tee in the act of addressing it.

Player discovers that his ball is within inches of being out of bounds. Because of its unusual lie, the player realizes that it will be much easier for him to play the ball if he assumes a stance that is entirely out of bounds. Has the player such a right or must he remain within bounds while swinging at the ball?

A player has a perfect right to stand out of bounds while playing a ball lying within bounds, if he believes such a stance will help his play.

Greensboro Beats Durham With Ease

DURHAM, July 7.—Greensboro gave the Bulls a good trouncing here this afternoon by the count of 12 to 4. Allison was hit unmercifully through the game, the bingles coming at opportune moments. Shay hit a homer in the third with two on and was hit for the circuit in the second. The Bulls started out to hit hard too but Lankeneau was yanked after the first inning and Jackson sent in. He was not in effective form but his teammates were batting so well that he won with ease.

CAN YOU BEAT IT! Copyright, 1923, by The Evening World By Maurice Ketten

Grandstand Gaff

The Greensboro News says Duke Duncan should now be classed among the league's leading pitchers. Fans who have seen Cobb's latest buys in action, are inclined to think the Detroiters are due for a change once the three youngsters become acquainted with bigtime tactics. That Gibson with a fair run of luck and proper development of his natural twirling ability will make good is conceded by all. Other scouts roaming this territory since his purchase have expressed regret that Cobb beat them to the big boy. The two Augusta twirlers will go up with a wonderful minor league record behind them. Clarke only a few years ago was the leading college pitcher in North Carolina and his present and future success may be largely credited to Bill Fetzner, the famous Carolina coach, who was the mentor for the Davidson Wildcats during Clarke's college career. Clarke, who recently worked out a no-hit, no-run game in the Sally, will take with him to the majors a remarkable physique that should stand the strain of faster company. Smythe, his teammate, is getting a try in higher circles due to his record this season for the most part, and it is a record worthier of higher company.

There was one bright spot in the affair to local fans. In the fourth, Carey attempted to come in from third on Waldrop's long fly to right, only to be cut off at the plate by an unusual throw from deep right by Duke Duncan. It was what might be termed a perfect peg. A variation of an inch or more would have meant another run for the visitors.

Another consolation—We might have won had Dameron remained on the mound.

Should Duncan's day as a player end there is no doubt that he could "land" a job as inspector with Spalding, Reach or some other prominent manufacturer of the horsehide. Local fans could give the Duke and Siner near perfect references as ball inspectors. In fact, they seem to consider the inspection and discussion of the balls a major part of the game.

"Three pennants for North Carolina" is the motto in Greensboro. The trio being Greensboro, in the Piedmont; Wilson, in the Virginia, and Charlotte, in the South Atlantic. Listens good, but barring too much Duke Duncan on the mound it could be only two championship rags for the Old North State.

At last it seems as if the steady procession of the two New York teams might strike a slower sail. In the American, Speaker's Indians have taken a new lease on life and are now in second place. The Yanks have a lead of 165 points in the percentage but a slump now would probably prove disastrous. Saturday the Cleveland club with 27 runs set a new record for the American, following it up with 15 runs and 19 hits yesterday.

In the National, Pittsburgh is only 29 points behind the Giants, thanks to the Cincinnati Reds, who are lagging behind by only 53 points. The lessening of the margin between the leaders is to the credit of the Reds and not Pittsburgh. Yesterday's victory was the sixth straight over the champions by Cincinnati, being also Luque's third victory over the wonder club. Pittsburgh increases her standing over the other clubs in the circuit but fails to better position when in actual contact with the Giants. Barring any mishaps, the Pirates and Reds will have to be contented with before the National League hunting is clinched.

Charley Robertson celebrated the lifting of his suspension yesterday by besting Walter Johnson in a pitching duel. The no-hit, no-run hero has probably decided on a better course for bettering the size of his meal ticket than mere indifference.

During the week the Babe lessened Cy Williams' lead in circuit clouts and at the same time passed his American League rival—Ken Williams. Ruth, at present date, is only four fence-busters in the rear of Cy. Other leading home run hitters in the American include: Williams, Hellmann, "Big" Miller and Speaker. In the National: Mikan, Hornsby and Fournier.

Gibson will no doubt have company in his journey up to the big show. Cobb has recently purchased "Railroad" Clarke and Smythe, of the Augusta Sally League club. The reported total purchase price for the two heavies was set at $11,000. Detroit's lack of success each year has

Allison Released, Is Signed By the Rocky Mount Club

It was announced today that Tex Allison, who was released Saturday night by Manager Herb Murphy because Allison could not get his arm in shape, has been signed to cover the keystone cushion for the Rocky Mount club of the Virginia League. Allison, his wife and child left yesterday evening for Rocky Mount, and the former Danville player will no doubt appear in the line-up there this afternoon.

Allison is a cool, heady ball player, and a hard hitter, but owing to his lame wing has been unable to cover his regular position at second and has been alternated between first and outfield and finally to third, where it was plainly evident that the arm was not responding to treatment. With the signing of Rescoe, who is performing creditably around the initial cushion, Allison was no longer needed as his arm would not allow him to perform successfully at any other position on a club that has a hard fight before it if desirous of any second half honors.

"Allie", as he was called, was a good-nature player and well liked by Danville fans, who wish him well with the Rocky Mount club.

Manager Murphy is expected to be at his usual position on the hot corner in the game with the Twins today.

Duncan's Delivery Proves Too Strong For Murphy's Men

Danville's one, Raleigh won! The score of the game, if such a tame, perfunctory performance may be properly called one, was Raleigh 3; Danville 1.

Manager Duke Duncan, of the Capital team, broke into the baseball Hall of Fame by holding the slugging Danville outfit to five dinky little bingles, and these were well scattered, yielding only a lone tally. This came in the fifth and resulted from two hits, each a sacrifice batted.

It is probably beyond dispute that not during the whole season have the Tobaccoists appeared less energetic and more lacking in "pep" than yesterday. They could not hit, they were slow on the bases and failed to pull off anything, noteworthy except a great throw by Ted Smith, who, after catching Waldrop's fly to right center in the fourth, made a perfect peg to Cochlin, easily catching Carey, who had tried to score from third after the catch.

Danville's errors did not figure in the score, except in the eighth when Raleigh scored its surprise third run. Jones and Siner had been retired in that inning when Graves poked a safety through to center. Carey, unable to bunt, hit a hot bouncer toward Overton. Graves, running to second, intervened momentarily between Overton and the approaching ball and caused him to lose the bound, the ball hopping rapidly past him to right center, where Smith failed to arrest its progress. Meanwhile Graves was hurrying on to third, and Smith pegged to Cochlin, the ball reaching him on a short bound and eluding him. Even had Cochlin handled the ball perfectly, Graves had beaten the throw and was over the plate.

Raleigh really won the game in the fifth when Carr Smith singled, was bunted to second by Edwards and scored ahead of Lennox, who hammered the ball over left field fence. The Danville batsmen had an off day in every sense. In the first inning Dameron, a southpaw try-out, fanned Dorman, but then passed on Smith and Trever. Manager Duncan sent Graves into center and he himself took up the pitching burden. With three on and none out, Allison popped up to third, and Dameron grounded to first, neglecting an excellent scoring opportunity. Duncan was pitching a dinky little slow ball, but when the local batsmen connected with it, they sent up easy flies or rapped little infield pops. Resco opened the second with a walk, but was forced at second on Cochlin's boulder to Carey. A wide throw by Carey toward first enabled Overton to reach third, but he failed to score when Twombly flied out to right, and then Lennox tossed Dorman out on his rap to short field.

Allison opened the fourth by singling to right, but he was off on a hit and run play in which Regan sent a fly to Carr Smith, who easily doubled Allison, the runner having rounded second. Resco grounded to Carey and the down a double, and Twombly bunted him up a base. Dorman was grazed by a pitched ball. Overton sent a fly to Carey, but Smith singled to center, and Resco grounded to Carey. Dorman, Dorman and Smith tried the delayed steal play, but Carey was alert and threw Dorman out at the scoring station.

Allison singled again in the sixth after Trever had popped up to Lennox, but the best Regan could do was a fly to Graves. Allison then swiped second, but Resco did the Carey act. Cochlin drew a pass to open the seventh and Allison grounded to Jones and was down at first, and Overton grounded to Duncan and was tossed out.

The eighth seemed to offer a fine scoring chance. Ted Smith walked, and Trever's single to left sent him to third. Allison grounded to Edwards, forcing Trever to second. Then Regan sent a long fly to right, which Carr Smith squeezed and then lined the ball to Siner to prevent Ted Smith's scoring. Siner threw to Lennox who closed in on Smith approaching the plate and threw him out when he made a hopeless dash for it. The visitors got their last hit off Twombly in the fourth, and Carey, who did it, went to second on Allison's error, and to third on Duncan's out, Twombly to Resco. Then came the sensational play of the game, Waldrop sent a rather long fly just to right of center, and Smith lined the ball on a fly directly into Cochlin's hands, retiring Carey and the side.

The visitors got two on in the sixth, first on Graves' single, and he advanced on a wild pitch. Then Allison made a wide throw of Duncan's boulder and gave him a life, and he stole second, but Graves was caught at the plate on Dorman's quick return of the ball.

One feature of the game, albeit a depressing one to the spectators, was the failure of the Danville batsmen to hit Duncan's dinky little slow ball, one of them sending up easy outfield flies. Nobody had the home-run punch. In the last four innings, with defeat staring them in the face, two little singles, one in the sixth and one in the eighth and one in the ninth, were all they got. Eight men stranded on the corners indicates how much the Tobaccoists lacked the punch.

IN AUTO TRAVEL
(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 6.—There has been approximately fourteen percent more travel by touring automobiles through the Central States, both in east and west bound, during the first five months of this year than during the corresponding months of last year, according to statistics compiled by the Chicago Automobile Club.

During the first five months in 1923, 17,443 motorists registered at the Chicago club, as compared with 15,153 during the first five months of 1922.

The answers to the call of the road began in January, when 1,960 tourists registered. This was 50 percent more than in 1922 when 1,303 tourists stopped at the club during January.

The Central States, heavy during February, when 4,276 registered, as compared with 1,609 during February, 1922. The March figures were: 2,023 in 1923 and 1,594 in 1922. In April 3,366 registered as compared with 1,862 in April, 1922.

THE TEST

The difference between those who seek health through other methods and those who gain health by Chiropractic is largely a matter of investigation.

Chiropractic

Has stood the test of investigation and has not changed its underlying principle since its discovery 27 years ago. That this principle is right is proven by the fact that it is the most rapidly growing health method in the world today.

Next Year's Hard Coal Bill May Be Heavily Increased

BREAKING UP ANTHRACITE CAR WHICH HAULS IT TO THE HOIST AFTER A BLAST AND LOADING IT, BY CONVEYER, ON THE HOIST AT THE SHAFT'S BASE

NOT BACKWARD

By JOHN L. LEWIS
International President
United Mine Workers of America
THERE is no occasion for serious fear of labor trouble in the anthracite industry this fall. It is only necessary that the anthracite operators meet with the representatives of the anthracite miners and negotiate an agreement as to wages and conditions of employment that will be fair and just to all parties, including the public, and which will give to the mine workers that degree of justice and fair treatment to which they are entitled.

The miners will do their part toward effecting such an agreement. I trust the operators will take the same broad view of the matter.

But the miners will take no backward step.

By HARRY B. HUNT
(Special to The Bee)
WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 9.—Add another dollar per ton to your anthracite coal bill for this winter. To be on the safe side, perhaps you'd better make it two.

For, with the margin that will be added by operators to cover "contingencies" and "overhead" proportionate with the increased pay and improved working conditions demanded by anthracite miners, the increased cost of anthracite to consumers during the next year seems certain to be well up toward $20,000,000. This on an approximate consumption of 100,000,000 tons.

With mines throughout the entire anthracite field producing at record capacity, loading more than 2,000,000 tons per week, workers are nevertheless confident that their demands for more pay and uniformity of working conditions will be met by the operators without much quibbling.

The five-month tie-up last year demonstrated the solidness of the miners' organization in the hard coal fields, and the men are admittedly in better position to force their demands than they were at that time.

In the words of the Independent citizen of the coal fields, who is neither miner nor operator, "the miners have the operators 'on the hip,' and both sides know it."

Briefly, the demands of the miners are a re-statement of the Shamokin demands of last year, calling for a 20 per cent increase in scales of mine pay, with $2

Daily Puzzle

The weather-vane on top of the old church steeple furnishes an interesting puzzle. Toward what direction is the wind blowing? And what two words can be spelled with the letters N, S, E, and W?

Saturday's answer:
If 10 horsemen and 14 horses were coming along a road, the number of their heads and legs would total 100. The men have 10 heads, the horses 14, making 24. Adding 20 legs for the men, 44; and 56 legs for the horses brings the total to 100. Another answer is 5 men and 17 horses.
